

New York City Fire Department Community Emergency Response Team Application Form

To help neighborhoods and corporate entities within the city better prepare for future emergencies, the FDNY in partnership with Office of Emergency Management are expanding the N.Y.C. Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) Training Program. The FDNY is reaching out to community and corporate based groups, looking to form teams in all community boards as well as numerous corporate sponsored sites though out the city.

The CERT Fact Sheet (found at this web site) will provide background information on the CERT program and lists the responsibilities of a community or corporate based group interested in forming and supporting CERT training in their related communities or location.
